Definition of Youth

- The Estonian Youth Work Act (2010), the main legal instrument in the youth field, defines youth as between 7 and 26 years of age.

Population in Estonia

- The total population in Estonia was estimated at 1.32 million people in 2017, according to the latest census figures.
- The population of Estonia represents 0.02 percent of the world's total population which arguably means that one person in every 5206 people on the planet is a resident of Estonia.

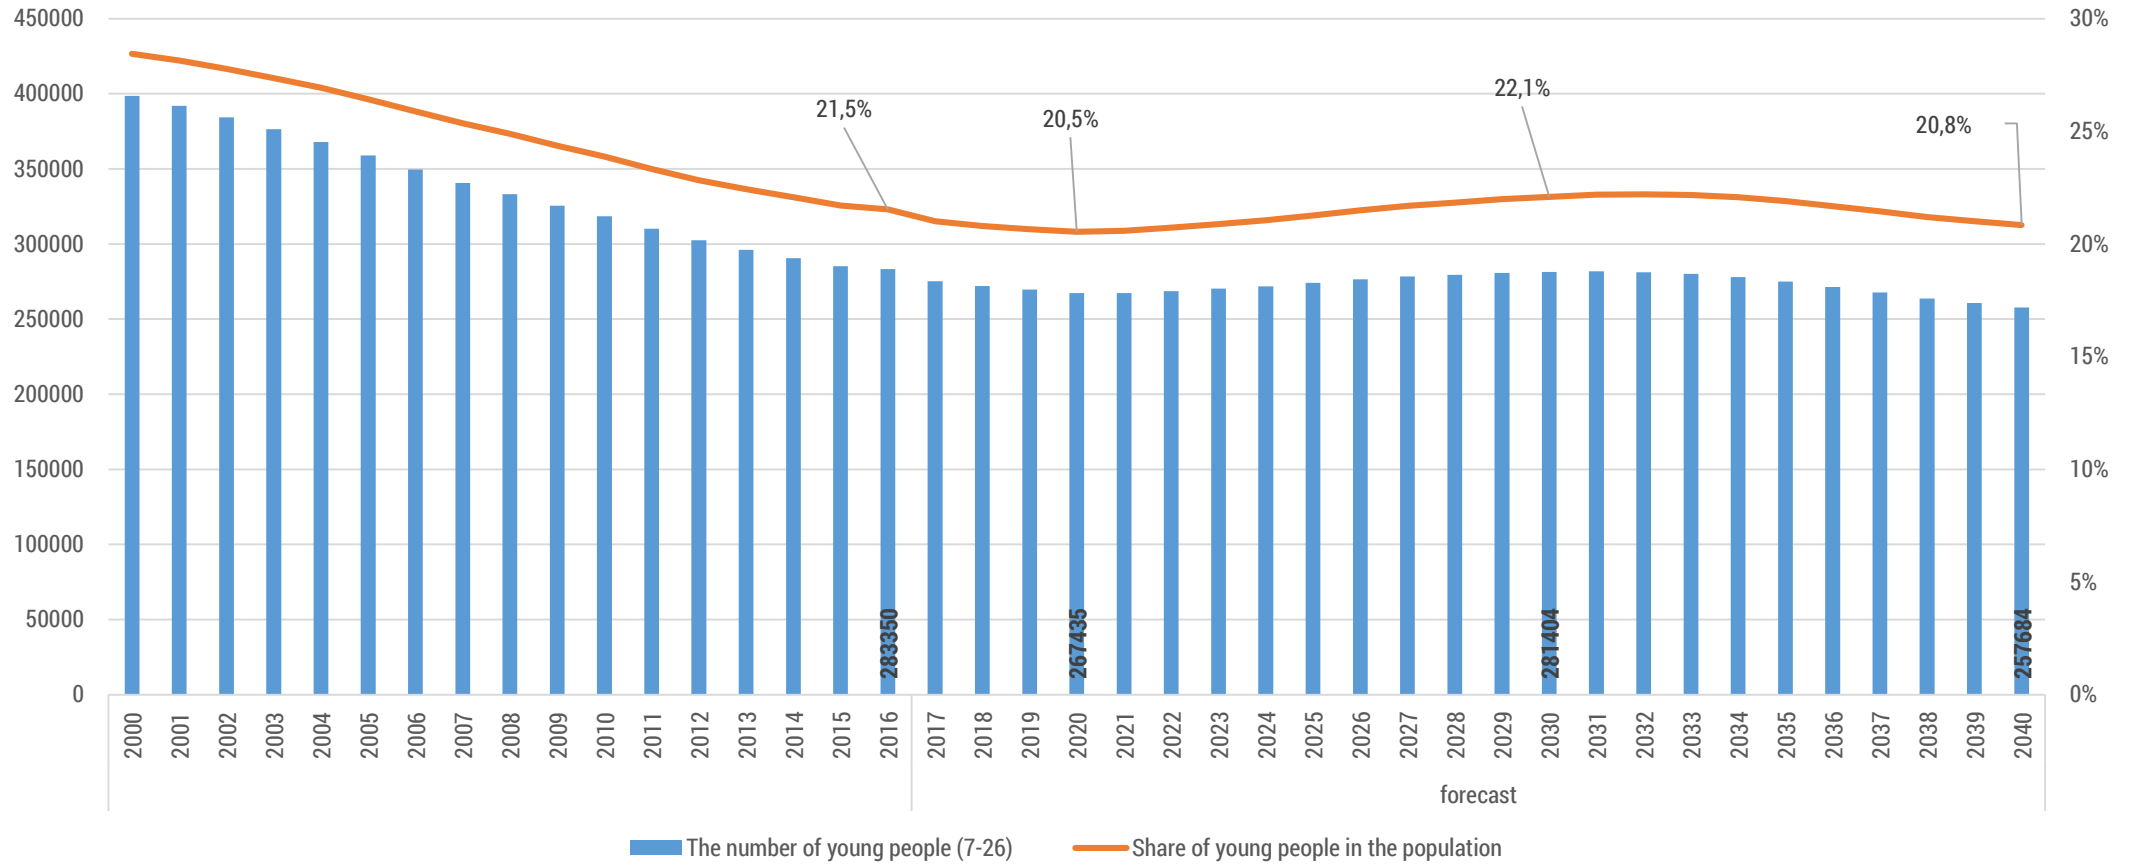

Facing stagnant population growth

Statistics on Youth

- There are 278.867 young people in Estonia.
- The share of young people in the total population is at 21%; it had its peak (i.e 29%) in 1996-2001.
- As in many other European countries, the share of youth population is decreasing. According to the forecasts of Statistics Estonia, this decrease will continue until 2022, when the share of young people in the total population will gradually start to increase again.

Young People in the Population

Policy and Legislation

- Youth policy of Estonia is based on the 2010 Youth Work Act and the 2014 Youth Field Development Plan.
- The Youth Field Development Plan 2014-2020 followed the Youth Work Strategy 2006-2013 that in turn came after the Youth Work Development Plan 2001-2004.
- As such, the Youth Field Development plan integrates the general area of youth policy with the narrow area of youth work, setting goals, measures and indicators of efficiency.

Goals of the Youth Field Development Plan

- Young people have ample opportunities for self-development and self-realisation, which supports the formation of a cohesive and creative society.
- Young people have more choices to better unlock their creative and developmental potential.
- Young people are at lower risk of exclusion.
- Youth participation in decision-making is more supported.
- Youth field operates more efficiently.

Underlying Principles for the Period 2014-2020

- Measures are planned and taken with the heterogeneity of young people in mind.
- Health of young people is supported as well as values and attitudes that promote healthy lifestyles.
- Youth field contributes to social inclusion and fosters caring attitudes towards the surrounding environment.
- Youth field contributes to socialisation process of young people and promotes their transitions and coping strategies.

Organisation of Youth Work

- Youth Work Act provides the legal basis for the organisation of youth work, defined as the set of conditions created to promote the diverse development of young people that enable them to be active outside their families, formal education and work on the basis of their free will.
- Youth Work Act sets out which institutions are responsible for youth work, and its financing.

Youth Work Provision

- Youth work is organised by different institutions and in different settings, i.e youth organisations, youth councils, youth centres, hobby schools, youth camps, youth projects and programmes, extra-curricular activities in school.
- The main level of organisation of youth work is local government, which decides objectives of youth work that shall be implemented in its territory as well as determines means and methods for that, including budget.

Nature of Youth Work Provision

- Youth work is provided in close partnership with young people by involving them in the decision-making process.
- Providing favourable conditions for non-formal learning the needs and interests of young people are taken into account.
- Young people are willing to be involved in youth work.
- Young people are treated equally regardless of their individual characteristics. Their initiative is supported.

Public Institutions

The creation of one central coordinating unit (ex. a Ministry of Youth) has not been the goal of strategic documents, but rather an integrated youth policy based on information exchange between various actors, the latter being coordinated by the Youth Affairs Department in cooperation with the Estonian Youth Work Centre. Both offices are set within the Ministry of Education and Research (MoER), identified in the Youth Field Development Plan as the governmental authority responsible for its implementation.

Administrative Field of the MER

Estonian Youth Work Centre, founded in 1999, employs a staff of 24 people and, additionally to the implementation of the Youth Field Development Plan, performs other functions that arise from the Acts of Riigikogu or that are entrusted to the centre by the minister.

Youth Agency, a department of Archimedes Foundation founded in 1997, employs a staff of 21 people and is responsible for capacity building in the youth field with a special focus on international cooperation, having been for 20 years the implementing body (Estonian NA) for EU Youth Programmes in Estonia.

Youth Field Finances 2017

- Ministry of Education and Research: EUR 17,9 million – State Budget, Gambling Tax Funds, EU Funds
- Estonian Youth Work Centre: EUR 10,1 million – State Budget, Gambling Tax Funds, EU Funds, Norwegian/EEA Grants
- Youth Agency (Archimedes Foundation): EUR 5,4 million – State Budget, EU Funds
- Local Governments: EUR 100 million – State Budget
- Parents: EUR 25 million

Youth and Representation

The Estonian National Youth Council (ENL) is the representative body for youth, and an umbrella organisation for non-profit groups that deal with young people or perform youth work. ENL delegates representatives from youth associations to the Council of Youth, a governmental advisory body on youth issues, which advises the MoER in order to better implement the goals of the Youth Field Development Plan. ENL advocates for youth interests in legislation and better financing for youth organisations.

Youth Participation

- ENL represents and supports the interests of 56 youth associations across Estonia, and uses its collective experience to act on issues that impact on young people.
- There are 14 regional and 61 local youth councils to address issues of relevance to young people, and 191 student councils that represent students' rights at all education levels.
- In 2016, 1354 young people and 209 policymakers took part in youth cafés to discuss the issues young people face.

Other Facts and Figures

- There are 263 open youth centres, 597 hobby schools, 87 youth camps and 54 youth work camps in Estonia.
- There are 140.000 young people involved in youth work, 74.000 of those in extra-curricular activities in school.
- More than 3800 young people and youth workers a year take part in Erasmus plus projects in the field of youth.
- There are more than 5000 youth workers in Estonia.
- Quality training is provided to 1.500 youth workers a year.
